ZOO'S GUIDE TO ALL YOU NEED TO KNOW, WATCH, BUY & DO THIS WEEK!

"Sorry Big Brother – I'm saving my boobs for ZOO!"

Helen Wood is back in the BB house – and she told us how she plans to cause carnage!

Helen Winning Big Brother!

Just in case you missed it on Friday, last year's tempestuous Big Brother 15 winner Helen Wood has re-entered the house in a bid to spice things up. And with a track record of booby bust-ups – plus her recent topless exclusive in ZOO – it could just be the best decision the BB bigwigs have ever made...

HI, HELEN! HOW DID IT FEEL TO BE ASKED TO RE-ENTER THE BB HOUSE?

Oh my God, it's insane! Big Brother was the best experience of my life, so I couldn't wait to get in there and mix things up!

DO YOU HAVE A PLAN IN MIND?

Not really. I'm only in for a week, so I'm not going to start throwing my weight around and clashing with people. But sparks will fly...

WILL YOU GET ON WITH ANYONE IN THERE?

I keep asking myself the same question! I like Mark: we could get on, but he blatantly just wants to be disliked. Saying that, I probably can't get too close, because Sam will hate that. You can tell she really likes him. Christian's fit, but he's got the personality of a wet fart. And as for the third newbie...

HARRY AMELIA?

Yeah! She had better stay away – we’re not going to get on. I’m no prude, but she’s attention seeking with the whole exhibitionist thing.

I don’t want her cooking breakfast in the kitchen with her tits out near me! She’s comes across quite scary, too. I’ll sleep with my eyes open.

WILL YOU BE SHOWING OFF YOUR BODY?

I don’t need to get my boobs out for anybody; I only reveal all for the ZOO readers!

WE’RE PRIVILEGED!

WHAT WAS THE REACTION LIKE AFTER YOUR TOPLESS SHOOT?

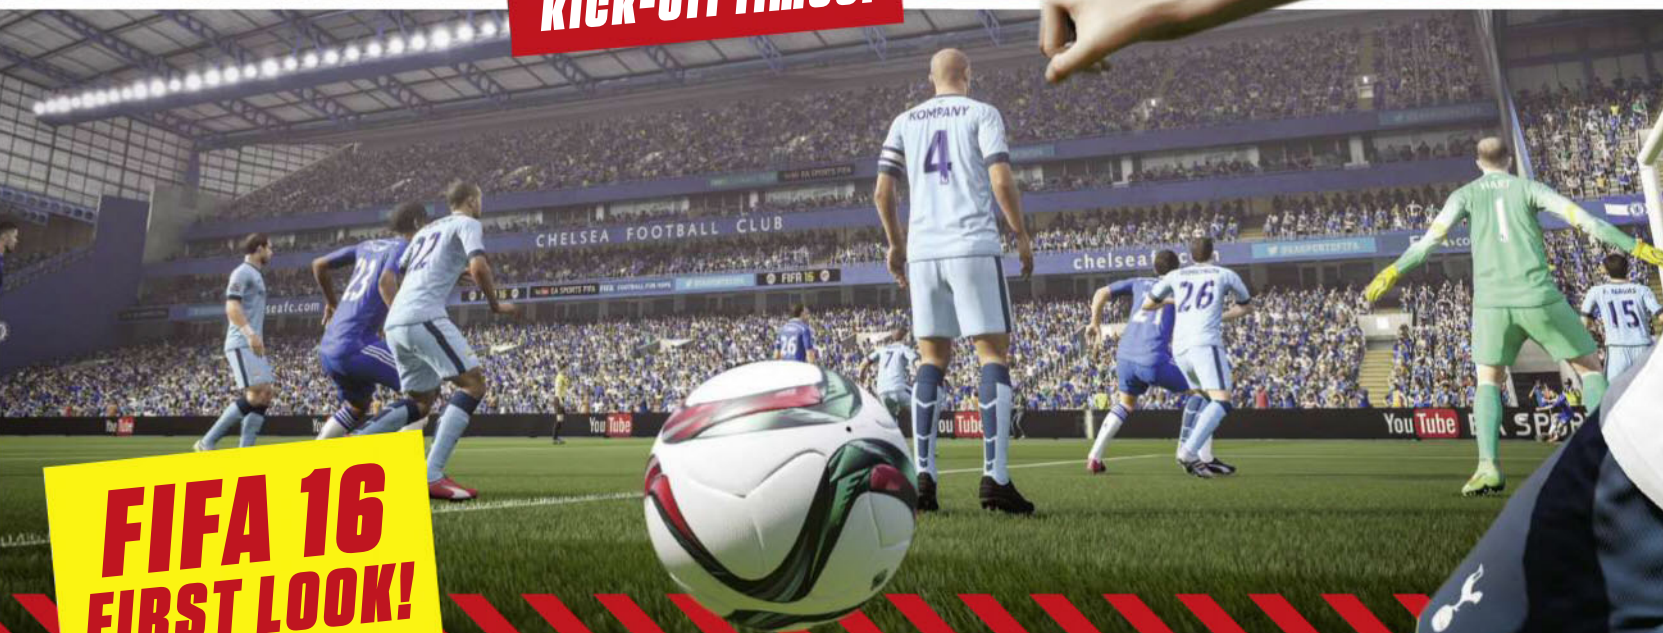

Amazing! A few girls give me sh*t on Twitter, but I got so many compliments from my female followers, as well as guys. I loved how I looked!

I can’t wait to do another shoot for ZOO... as soon as the Big Brother fun is all over, that is!

Randomise

FIFA 16
FIRST LOOK!

THE BEST FIFA YET!

(HONESTLY - IT'S EVEN BETTER THAN LAST YEAR'S!)

Just when you thought they'd perfected the beautiful game, along comes FIFA 16 with more improvements and tinkering than a Brendan Rodgers team sheet. Here's what you need to know...

Last year's FIFA 15 release might have been a gigantic leap forward for the series, but FIFA 16 is taking it to the next stage. It's the equivalent of giving an extra 10 per cent on the pitch, or that special something which sets Lionel Messi and Cristiano Ronaldo apart.

However you view it, know this: after all the subtle tweaks and tinkering done behind the scenes, FIFA 16 is remarkably better than last year's near-perfect game.

Here's how they've done it...

DEFENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

A key problem with FIFA 15 was some defenders (yes, you Per Mertesacker) were left exposed by pacey attackers. It often meant you'd be turned inside out and left unable to recover. In 16, you might still get beaten, but there's an opportunity to get back, allowing you to hassle strikers to the bitter end. That's not all, though: teams defend better as a unit, covering open space rather than rigidly sticking to a man, and you'll even be able to throw "fake" tackles to prompt attackers into making mistakes, as well get back on your feet faster after any sliding tackle.

DRIBBLE LIKE MESSI!

Previously, you could either dribble slowly keeping the ball close to feet, or at full speed pushing the ball out in front. Now, there's a third option: no-touch dribbling. It sounds odd, but it's what Messi does every week. Hold the right trigger and you'll move with the ball, without ever touching it. This keeps defenders on the back foot and gives you the opportunity to dip, feint

Play as women's teams!

and escape any lunging tackles with a shoulder drop.

WOMEN'S TEAMS (FINALLY!)

Thankfully, FIFA is no longer the sole domain of men, and the game is introducing 12 international squads including Germany, USA and England. But if you're hoping to see Steph Houghton clatter into Ronaldo, keep dreaming, because you'll only be able to play other female teams (men's teams wouldn't play women in the sport, so FIFA doesn't allow it). These girls have also helped shape how some men look, meaning Peter Crouch and even Adebayo Akinfenwa are more proportioned, while Zlatan Ibrahimovic's ponytail is more realistic than ever.

TRAIN TO BECOME A PRO!

For some time, it's fair to say there's been a yawning gap between your average FIFA player, and those with an apparent extra five-fingers on the gamepad. Now there's FIFA Trainer, an in-game teaching assistant which flashes up button combinations to help turn you from Roberto Soldado into Sergio Aguero in no time.

→ FIFA 16* is out on PS3, PS4, Xbox 360 and Xbox One on 25 September

EVEN MORE FIFA 16 MAGIC!

HEAD-TRACKING

A small detail, but cool nonetheless. Having players actually follow the trajectory of the ball from a throw-in to your boot (and subsequently into row Z) is great.

VANISHING SPRAY

Much like the spray itself, it's utterly pointless. Still, there's something intensely satisfying about watching the ref applying what looks like shaving cream onto the pitch with every free-kick.

STEADICAM SNOGS

EA decided you needed even more ways to rub a goal into your opponent's face, so what better way to do it than by "doing a Gerrard", and slipping the Steadicam a sloppy kiss?

THE BOLASIE 360

No, not the name of the latest Xbox, but one of Yannick Bolasie's impressive moves that has become one of many new skills introduced into FIFA 16. Marouane Fellaini, look away now...

RANDOMISED MATCHES

Like most football schedules, no one knows what time of day you'll be playing thanks to a new randomiser. This means you'll experience more great-looking matches at times of the day you may not have witnessed before, like dusk.

GAZZA:

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW!

“STERLING NEEDS A THICK SKIN!”

The England legend – and subject of a brilliant new documentary of his life – talks exclusively to ZOO about pranks, being Mourinho’s “Special One” and why he hates Sepp Blatter

GAZZA, GREAT TO SEE YOUR NEW FILM OUT! YOU GET SOME LOVE FROM SOME BIG NAMES!

Rooney says I’m the best player he’s ever seen in an England shirt, Mourinho calls us the “Special One” and Gary Lineker’s raving about us! You see all these shows about sporting legends on TV but I’m never one of them! But I just love football... I was given a gift and I just tried to make the most of it. I just knew how good I was. With my ability I could beat anybody.

AND YOU ALSO LOVED A PRACTICAL JOKE.

WHAT WAS YOUR BEST?

I took an ostrich to training once! But playing for Lazio in Italy with Roberto Di Matteo, I got hold of this little snake that came into my villa.

I stunned it and put it in Robbie’s pocket after training. So when we all went out that night I asked him to get his wallet out and lend us some money. When he put his hand in his pocket, he hit the roof and nearly sh*t himself!

WHY MAKE A NEW DOCUMENTARY NOW?

I wanted to tell my side of the story, because I wanted to remind people that I actually played football once! I can honestly say that 99 per cent of what they wrote about me over the years was 110 per cent lies. But people still believe what they read and that hurts.

YOU EXPERIENCED PRETTY MUCH EVERYTHING A FOOTBALLER CAN. WHAT ADVICE WOULD YOU GIVE TODAY’S YOUNG STARS?

Whatever you want to achieve, you’ve got to practice and be dedicated. When I was a kid, I’d kick a tennis ball against a wall because my dad couldn’t afford to buy us a football. But nowadays, with the Xbox, there are so many distractions and, with the internet, kids are growing up fast.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE CURRENT CROP OF ENGLAND PLAYERS?

Sterling’s a

Sterling:

Documentary star!

Euro '96

"I was given a gift"

"I was hungover when I played against Maradona" player. Roy Hodgson might have had a go at him but Raheem's got to get thick-skinned. He's picked Sterling out because he knows he's gonna be great. But Hodgson's only as good as his players and Sterling's one of many. It must be hard for the young players because there's so many foreigners coming over.

They're worried they might not get a chance. And I know there are some quality players in the Championship who deserve a chance.

WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF STERLING'S CONTACT SITUATION AT LIVERPOOL?

We don't know what's going on with Sterling indoors, but he shouldn't worry about getting booed. I used to take that as a compliment. The opposition fans were scared if I got the ball and would try to put us off. People shouted "you fat b*stard" and I'd just play up to it. The fans loved it.

WHAT ABOUT FIFA? SHOULD EUROPEAN TEAMS BOYCOTT THE WORLD CUP IN 2018?

No. But thankfully Blatter's had his time. I remember tweeting Lineker and the FA about him. He was so powerful, you had as much chance of sending him down as the Queen or the Pope!

WHAT ARE YOUR PLANS FOR THE FUTURE?

I did this film to remind people of what I did on the pitch. I just wanna keep on doing what I'm doing now. I'm working with these guys on a movie about my journey. We've finished the script. It follows my life and career with different actors playing me showing my struggles with bulimia and OCD as a teenager. It's called Gazza: The British Raging Bull.

FINALLY, WHO IS THE BEST PLAYER YOU EVER PLAYED AGAINST?

Maradona. But I made it easy for him – because I was hungover from the night before. I said to Maradona, "I'm a bit fked!" But we both scored! You should have seen him in the warm-up. He's stood still volleying the ball 20 yards in the air and it's coming down perfectly for him to volley up again. Without even moving off the spot he did that 10 times! He could do keepy-uppy with a rolled up sock. Amazing.

→ Gascoigne is out now on DVD

Never mind, there'll always be World Cup 1994!

W.T.F!

The maddest thing we've seen this week!

ROO LOOK HARD

This kangaroo crushes metal buckets with his bare paws... for fun!

Meet Roger, a red kangaroo who weighs a whopping 89kg and stands two metres tall from head to tail. In short, he's big and he's rock hard, but then you probably already worked that out from these muscle-flexing pics.

What you might not realise is that Roger is trained in hand-to-hand combat. "His daily exercise regime consists of sparring (kickboxing) his rivals and he also loves crushing metal buckets with his paws," explained the kangaroo sanctuary manager.

That said, Roger might be a big old softie underneath, after he was snapped hugging his precious stuffed bunny toy. Still, it won't fool us, because we know if we angered the ripped roo we'd only be a hop, skip and a thump away from having our lights knocked clean out.

SAC Phil Thomas, 26, is an ICT Technician currently serving at 90 Signals Unit situated at RAF Leeming in North Yorkshire

Flying high in the RAF

Think the Royal Air Force is all about fast jets? There are a multitude of roles available – and it's not all about work, work, work!

HI, PHIL. WHAT'S YOUR ROLE WITHIN THE RAF?

I'm an Information And Communications Technology Technician of seven-and-a-half years, currently on a deployable squadron, and I'm just about to be promoted. I'll be starting my new post in June.

WHAT'S THE BASIC RAF TRAINING REGIME LIKE FOR EVERY RECRUIT?

No matter what trade you go into, every new recruit needs to do a nine-week basic training at RAF Halton. That includes weapons, drills, marching, uniforms and so on. Everyone does that nine weeks; it's a requirement. RAF Halton turns a civilian into a quality airman.

AND THE TRADE TRAINING?

Each training regime is different. For example, mine was 12 months residential at No1 Radio School at RAF Cosford, plus 18 months within an operational unit to complete my apprenticeship. The training provided me with the skills I needed to undertake a diverse range of available roles.

WHAT SPECIFIC PRACTICAL SKILLS WOULD YOU BE DEVELOPING?

Protected information in the right format, at the right time and in the right place, is crucial in modern warfare. Therefore, I've developed skills on network security, administration and applications that use the network.

WHAT OPPORTUNITIES HAS THE RAF PRESENTED TO YOU?

One of the reasons I left my old job in Cornwall was because I couldn't imagine being sat behind the same desk for years. The RAF has given me the opportunity to travel, and I've done numerous deployments in different countries – places you'd never get a chance to visit.

WHAT DO YOU ENJOY MOST ABOUT YOUR ROLE?

Definitely the deployment side, and the opportunity to go to the gym and partake in sport and adventure training. Recently, we went up to Scotland for a week's mountain biking, canoeing and survival skills on the ice. There are loads of different opportunities.

WHAT'S THE LIFESTYLE LIKE?

With the RAF, it's what you make of it. If you want to be going out for the social side, especially on camp, there are plenty of people in the block who want to join you. If you want to train, there are amazing facilities and you always get lots of time. If you want to play sports, you'll get the chance. You can also do adventure training like sailing expeditions and even skiing! You're expected to work hard, but are given the opportunity to play hard, too!

WHAT EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES EXIST THROUGH THE RAF SCHEME?

I've continued my educational development through the Staffs University Degree Scheme. Forty per cent of my overall degree is taken from the training I've already conducted; the other 60 per cent is distance learning. Continued through-career development is provided for all those who grasp the opportunity.

WEMBLEY WAHAAAY...!

Brit daredevil climbs Wembley arch for one very scary selfie!

James Kingston

Some things in life will just make your stomach churn. The hobbies of James Kingston do exactly that. The professional free-runner from Romsey, in Hampshire, gets his thrills by scaling the world's tallest structures and videoing the event for your entertainment. In his latest conquest, he scaled the Wembley Stadium arch with minimal safety equipment – the first time anyone has climbed the 440ft structure. ZOO caught up with James after his stunt...

HI, JAMES. WHY ON EARTH DO YOU DO IT?

I can only do it for the love. I can't get enough of the physical side of it – the climbing and exploring hundreds of feet off of the ground gives me a real buzz. But then I also get a great kick creating the videos.

HOW DID THE FAMOUS WEMBLEY ARCH WORK OUT FOR YOU?

Honestly, it was amazing. I was about 440ft off the ground on top of such a special landmark.

It was incredible, I could see for miles across London – an amazing experience.

IS IT NICE TO BE ON THE RIGHT SIDE OF THE LAW FOR ONCE?

It made things easier. Technically, I've never been arrested, despite my run-ins with the police. It's inevitable, but they're normally more intrigued by what I'm doing. Others are scared because they think I'll end up killing myself. It normally ends in smiles though.

DO YOU EVER GET SCARED?

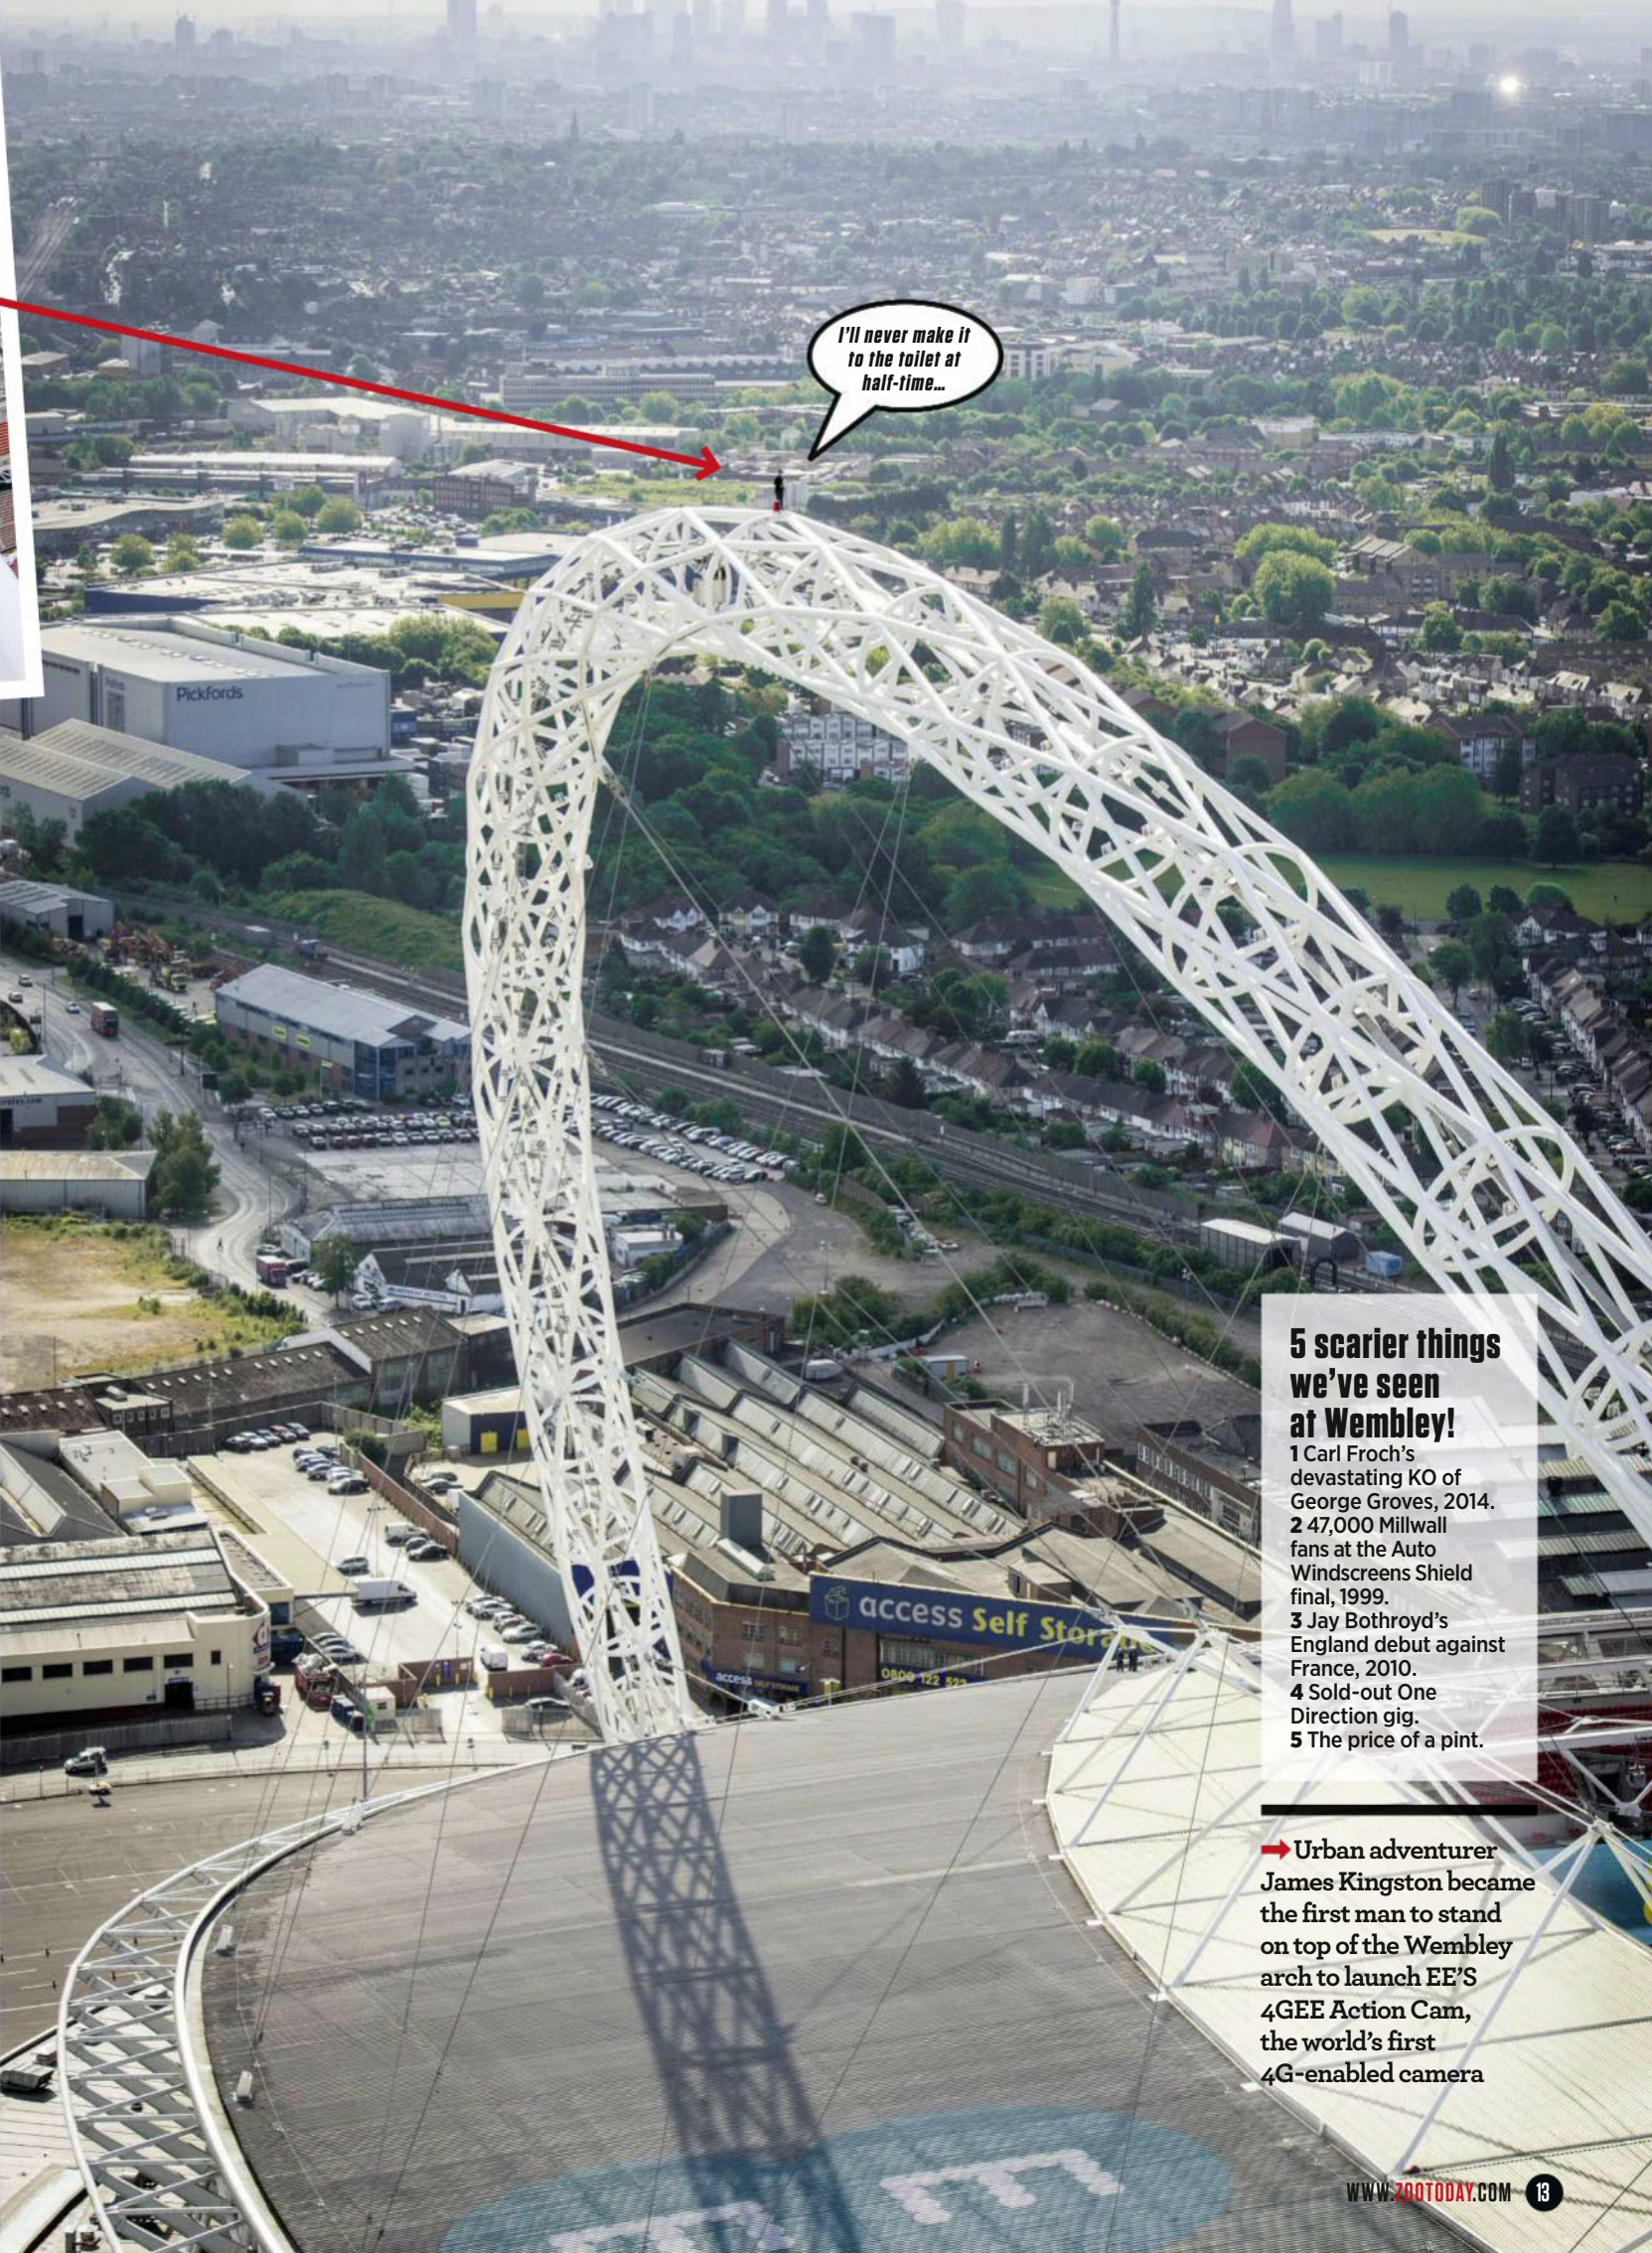

I've trained for such a long time for all of this. I know what to expect when I'm up there. I won't take unnecessary risks. When I climbed Dubai's second tallest building, I resisted the temptation to hang from a crane 1,470ft above the ground because it felt like it was coated in butter. I don't want to die!

WHAT'S NEXT?

The possibilities are endless. There are some really big ones I want to tick off my list. I've been to eye up the world's tallest building, the Burj Khalifa. Getting up there would just be mission impossible – not just the film! I couldn't do that without getting permission first.

“Everyone thinks I’m going to die”

I'll never make it to the toilet at half-time...

ZOO'S HOT 101 2015

Literally the only girl countdown that matters is back! And it's HOTTER than EVER!

Attention all lovers of the lady form: your expertise and valued opinion is needed. Whether you're male, female, or an empty packet of crisps with free will and access to the internet, we want YOU to vote for YOUR Hottest Woman In The World!

ZOO's Hot 101 is the ultimate babe countdown, culminating with the crowning of the most jaw-droppingly gorgeous women on our planet. The 2014 winner was the phenomenally lovely US model/actress Kate Upton – who stormed to the crown with tens of thousands of votes, following on from previous winners Michelle Keegan, Kim Kardashian and Sammy Braddy!

And now it's time to crown the 2015 winner. It's simple to get involved: just go to Zootoday.com and cast your vote.

THE VERY STRICT RULES OF VOTING

1. We are voting for sexy ladies. (Not footballers, films or people in suits trying to run the country.) OK?
2. You only get one vote! Just one. So vote wisely.
3. As per last year, and every year before that, "me," "my missus" and "your mum" won't be counted. Although probably laughed at here at ZOO towers.
4. That is pretty much it. So what are you waiting for? Get on and vote. Now! GO! NOW!

HAYEMAKER

David Hays is pulling no punches – only in ZOO

EXCLUSIVE TO ZOO!

The Hayemaker's new Entourage!

Jeremy Piven is a good pal of mine and he invited me to the Entourage movie premiere. I was buzzing because I'm a big fan of the show and have seen every episode. It's just a shame I didn't know Jeremy when they were shooting the movie because I would have been on him to get me a cameo.

Vince Chase and his boys set a good example of how to tackle Hollywood. I plan to do the same with the Hayemaker team when I'm ready to go out there. I met the whole crew and they're a real nice bunch of lads.

Strangely, I was watching Think Like A Man Too the night before, which features Jerry Ferrara who also plays Turtle in Entourage. So I had a laugh with him about that when I saw him.

I also bumped into my new mate Arron Crascall. He's an internet sensation who was on Virtually Famous with me. He grabbed me for one of his videos, which will get millions of views, so now I'm almost as famous as him!

EMAIL YOUR QUESTIONS FOR DAVID TO HAYEMAKER@ZOOTODAY.COM

IN NEED OF A HAYEMAKER THIS WEEK... END-OF-SEASON TOURS

I can't believe some clubs jetted off on end-of-season tours, it's ridiculous. All the players have just had a long season and are knackered. They should be sunning it up in Ibiza, not playing nothing games in some far eastern destination so the clubs can rake in more cash. Leave that to pre-season. When are these players going to have a holiday? They're not machines!

Leave Mo out of it

It's ridiculous that Mo Farah's name is being dragged through the mud because of doping allegations against his coach Alberto Salazar. Mo has never failed a test, so as far as anyone is concerned he's 100 per cent clean. People are even advising him to stop training with Salazar, but until the man is found guilty of any wrongdoing we have to remember these are just allegations – which he's denied. It shouldn't be that Mo is so emotionally distraught he has to pull out of races.

Ant and Dec's payday

Ant and Dec are worth every penny of the £23,000-a-day it's reported they now take home. The pair are an institution. I still remember them from Byker Grove, so they definitely must be doing something right to still be around now. They've earned that money because they have been working their arses off for many years. I had a great time with them on I'm A Celebrity... and I can see exactly why they've been around for so many years.

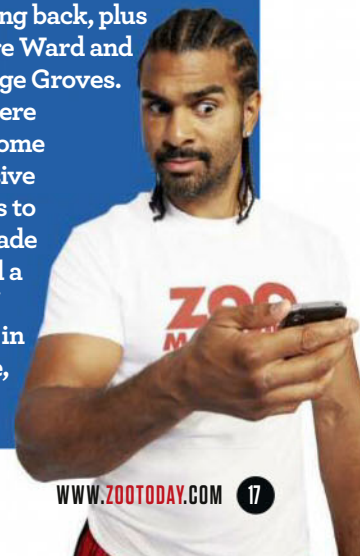

ASK DAVID!

What's the most exciting weight class in boxing right now?

JOHNNY HARRIS, VIA TWITTER

The middleweight to super-middleweight divisions are packed at the moment. You've got Gennady Golovkin, new world champion James DeGale and Carl Froch still talking about coming back, plus Andre Ward and George Groves. So there are some massive fights to be made – and a lot of Brits in there, too.

Tax mess

Another sportsman in a spot of bother is Lionel Messi, who is set to face trial for tax evasion. But he's not an accountant, so I don't see how he can get strung up for that. You'd have to assume he hires a team of people he trusts to look after his finances and just signs the papers when they're put in front of him. He even made a voluntary payment of €5m, which was equal to the alleged unpaid tax plus interest, so I don't think there's any need for the world to be robbed of its best footballer.

QUANTUM LEAP

Australian Quantum GP700 racer is madder than a koala bear on crack

More than seven years of sweat and toil have gone into the madcap creation you see before you, which is best described as one of the closest things you'll get to a Formula 1 car for the road.

The nutters behind the GP700 set out to produce Australia's fastest hypercar, designed to not only rearrange kidneys on the race track, but also have pants firmly soiled on the road, too.

It packs a 2.7-litre, supercharged four-cylinder engine that develops 700bhp. Better still, the svelte machine weighs just 700kg, giving it a coveted power-to-weight ratio of 1:1.

The chaps at Quantum are asking for nearly £500,000 to secure one of these monsters, but before you choke on your tea, consider that it can rocket from 0-62mph in a mind-altering 2.6 seconds and go on to tickle 200mph. In fact, the GP700 exerts 2.5G through corners (about the same as a space shuttle launch) and more than 1.2G of force under heavy acceleration (slightly more than a skydive) thanks to a ludicrous amount of aerodynamic bodywork.

And if all of that sounds a bit daunting, Quantum will throw in some track tuition, gratis. You know, because those Aussies are such a bloody friendly bunch.

FILM
of the week!

Entourage

Movie star Vincent Chase and his boys finally hit the big screen – and the result is a fantasy thrill ride you don't want to get off.

Vincent (Adrian Grenier), his brother Johnny (Kevin Dillon) and boys Eric (Kevin Connolly) and Turtle (Jerry Ferrara) are all back, along with agent-turned-studio-head Ari Gold (Jeremy Piven) as he commissions a big-budget movie for Vince's debut as a director. With cameo appearances from the likes of Thierry Henry and Ronda Rousey, you don't have to have watched a single episode to get right on track with the hot women, crazy parties, beautiful weather, MTV-style cribs and mad-hat Texan money men. Plus Emily Ratajkowski!

The Hollywood dream has never looked so cool. ★★★★★

DVD!

Focus

Big Willie, aka Nicky, is the head of a big group of scammers who recruit the sensational Jess (Margot Robbie) after watching her swiping watches at a carnival in New Orleans.

They go on to take down a casino in Vegas before plotting world domination. However, when the terrible twosome fall for each other, the plan goes t*t's up. Robbie transports this film from run-of-the-mill heist-fodder to decent Sunday afternoon viewing. ★★☆☆☆

DVD!

Love At First Fight

Between raving with his friends and running the family's carpentry business, Arnaud (Kévin Azaïs) has a peaceful summer ahead. But then he falls for Madeleine (Adèle Haenel), the ruthless daughter of a client who is desperate to get into the French army.

After she's accepted onto a boot camp, Arnaud follows suit. But when they discover it's harder than they imagined and escape, the fun starts and turns into a French version of Bear Grylls' The Island. ★★☆☆☆

ZOOVIE NIGHT!

FRONT-ROW FACTS ON THE COOLEST CLASSICS

👉 The movie was originally supposed to be a sequel to the 1985 flick Commando, but it never fleshed out with Arnie and Bruce Willis took over

👉 Alan Rickman couldn't stop flinching in the shootouts. Although a British stage-trained actor, one thing Shakespearean types don't normally do is fire Uzis. Director John McTiernan was forced to cut away from Hans Gruber's face almost every time he fired a gun because of Rickman's constant wincing

👉 The Nakatomi Tower that's overtaken by terrorists in the film is actually 20th Century Fox's headquarters!

👉 As iconic as Bruce Willis screaming "Yippee-ki-yay, motherfcker!" is, he wasn't the first choice for the role. After Arnold Schwarzenegger turned it down, it was passed to Sylvester Stallone, Burt Reynolds, Richard Gere and Harrison Ford before Willis got it

Jurassic World

It will come as no surprise to anyone that this is one firecracker of a film, delivering both an enjoyable plotline and mouth-dropping visuals.

Twenty-two years after the events of Jurassic Park, visitors arrive at the fully-functioning Jurassic World theme park, unaware that behind the scenes a bunch of suped-up dinos (carefully tended to by star of the show, Chris Pratt) are ready to run amok. What ensues is a series of painstakingly directed sequences courtesy of Colin Trevorrow, all with heap-loads of raptors on the rampage.

Jurassic World is a distinctive film that is no stranger to chaos, complete with a mental finale.

And to those of you who think the dinosaur to human ratio is too great, we say: bore off. ★★★★★

The Hot List

The Wedding Ringer

Doug Harris (Josh Gad) has somehow persuaded Gretchen (Kaley Cuoco-Sweeting) to be his wife. But there's a problem: he's got no groomsmen. Enter Jimmy Callahan (Kevin Hart), owner of Best Man Inc who, with his team of oddballs, become Doug's mates for the day! Heart-warming and hilarious, you'll re-watch this with every hangover. ★★★★★

Fifty Shades Of Grey

Far from being the racy flick everyone was hoping for, Shades sadly missed the boat on all sex scenes (if that's more your bag, go out and grab 2014's Nymphomaniac). But with a banging soundtrack – featuring tracks from the likes of Ellie Goulding and The Weeknd – and an average storyline, it lends itself nicely to lazy Sundays in with the missus. ★★★☆☆

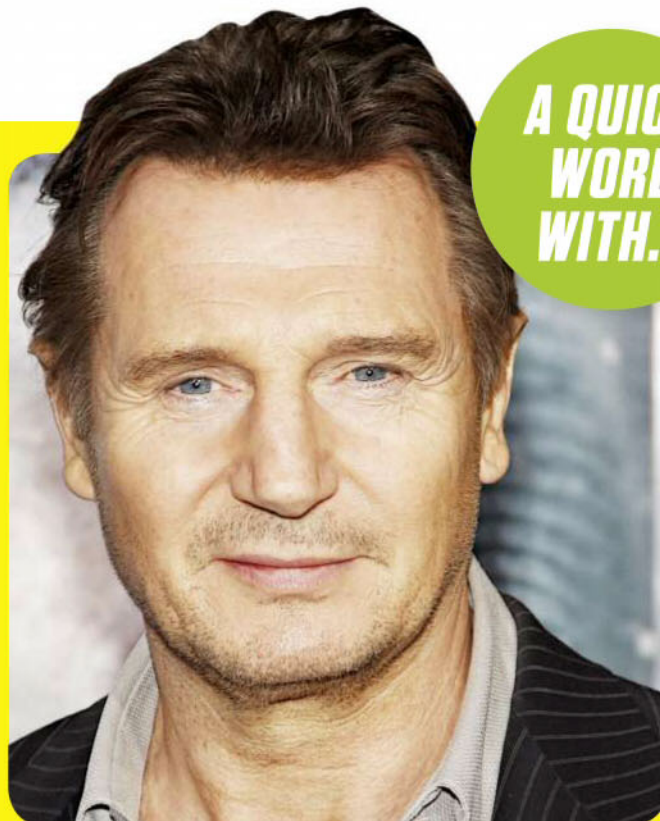

Age of Kill

You'll be quick to dismiss this British action thriller about an ex-sniper who is instructed to kill six people over the course of one day, in order to save his daughter. But don't be too hasty. Also starring Spandau Ballet's bassist and EastEnders 'ard-nut Martin Kemp, it won't set your world alight (it's basically Taken) but the disused prison scene is well worth a watch. ★★★★★

Accidental Love

When sexy leading lady Alice (Jessica Biel) is involved in a nail-gun accident, she wants to get the law changed to help others with injuries like her own, in this comedy based around the idea of healthcare. Having been filmed in 2008, with such a long wait you'd have expected it to be worthy of a blockbuster. Instead, it starts well, but ends up needing a little healthcare of its own. ★★★★★

A QUICK WORD WITH...

LIAM NEESON

HI, LIAM! HOW DID YOU FEEL WHEN YOU FIRST READ THE SCRIPT FOR TAKEN 3?

I wasn't sure after the second film how the writers (Robert Mark Kamen and Luc Besson) could've developed it any more, you know? But they came up with a really, really good storyline – a very believable storyline – and they were able to introduce a couple more characters. There was a nice twist to it: instead of Bryan Mills hunting, he's become the hunted. That drew me in.

WE CERTAINLY LOVED IT! WHY DO YOU THINK BRYAN'S HAD SO MUCH SUCCESS IN TERMS OF THE AUDIENCE ALWAYS ROOTING FOR HIM?

I think people respond to him because at heart he's a normal guy. He's a normal father trying to make ends meet, trying to do what's right for his family, and I think we all can empathise with that. And yet he's got a button, and when that button is pressed because of danger to his family, he goes into a different category of human being. And audiences seem to like that – for this guy to be able to do stuff that they can't do, or wouldn't do. But Bryan Mills seems to be able to get away with it, and that's always fun to see in the cinema, I think.

WHAT WAS THE TOUGHEST ELEMENT OF THE SHOOT FOR YOU?

It's always time as there's never enough of it! We're given a certain number of weeks to shoot the movie, and on Taken 3 there are a lot of big action sequences and they take time. So a lot of scenes with guns and physical combat that we were hoping to get three weeks to shoot, we actually got nine days. That's always tough when you're up against it! But Olivier Megaton, our director, is superb – he pulls this stuff off. He makes it look easy.

AND WHAT WAS THE MOST FUN ELEMENT OF THE SHOOT FOR YOU?

That's easy, the fight sequences! And then to complete them, because some of them are quite complicated – with guns and so on – there's always things that can go wrong...

ANY SERIOUS ACCIDENTS?!

Luckily, no! Nothing like that. It's fun to shoot the dangerous things because we rehearse them very strenuously... but then it's equally as cool fun to know they're finished, that they're in the can so to speak. Then we can all breathe a sigh of relief!

→ Taken 3 is out now on Digital HD, Blu-ray and DVD from Twentieth Century Fox Home Entertainment

DJ Target's survival guide

Top tips from a festival veteran!

MAKE SURE YOU'VE GOT THE RIGHT CLOBBER! You're out in the open for days and we all know it's going to rain at some point. Make sure you've got a waterproof packed or you're going to end up getting soaked!

WE'RE NOT ALL LUCKY ENOUGH TO HAVE VIP ACCESS! For those clean toilets, make sure you get your loo breaks in early, just after the cleaners have worked their magic!

GET ORGANISED Make sure you don't miss out on your favourite acts by planning a timetable. At the bigger festivals it can take up to 45 minutes to walk between stages!

CARRY CASH Unless you're at a cashless festival, queues for ATMs will eat into your valuable partying time. Don't get caught in them, for your own sake.

THIS PART IS VITAL - GET YOUR FOOTWEAR RIGHT! You're on your feet all weekend, treat them like they're your best mate. You don't want blisters come Monday morning.

YOU'RE GOING TO BE DRINKING PLENTY OF BOOZE, SO MAKE SURE YOU'VE STOCKED UP ON FOOD Avoid anything that looks like it's been sitting around for a bit. I've spent days on the toilet after a festival from a dodgy salad.

I'M NOT THE CAMPING TYPE BUT HAVE BEEN STUCK IN THE MUD AT LOADS OF FESTIVALS Make sure you get yourself a sturdy tent that doesn't get washed away in the rain.

KEEP IN TOUCH Bring one of those portable phone chargers. You're bound to lose your mates at least once. Don't get caught with a dead phone battery.

CAPTURE THE MOMENT Who doesn't love reliving the perfect moments? You're going to have plenty of priceless memories at a music festival, so it's important to snap away.

PACE YOURSELF! If you listen to me at least once, make it now. You've got the whole weekend, or week in some cases. Don't burn yourself out after one session, as you're only going to miss all the fun!

Sophie Reade

Cheshire's raunchiest blonde babe bares all for you!

As a ZOO reader, you'll know we are no strangers to placing plenty of bare-naked beauties on these pages, but very few can rival the rudeness of our Cheshire cutie, Sophie Reade.

We've gone without Sophie for quite a while now, with this being her first shoot of 2015. Luckily for us all, she hasn't lost her magic touch when it comes to flaunting all she's got on camera.

So sit back, relax and let the super-sexy and unforgettably rude BB winner wow you!

HELLO, SOPHIE. IT'S GREAT TO HAVE YOU BACK...

attention. I've really enjoyed this shoot, as it's probably one of the rudest I've done to date. HOW DO YOU CREATE A REALLY RUDE SHOOT?

We've used all sorts today: bondage gear and racy underwear! It's great to get whips and especially nipple tassels involved: they're really sexy. I love Fifty Shades Of Grey and think it's great to bring out in the bedroom when you're trying to experiment.

WHAT'S THE RUDEST THING YOU HAVEN'T DONE?

Hmm, let me think. I've not joined the mile high club...yet. That's something I've definitely got to tick off the bucket list one day.

YOU'RE NO STRANGER TO RUDENESS IN THE BB HOUSE. HOW RUDE IS HARRY AMELIA?

She's definitely got it, so why not flaunt it? I don't blame her at all. She's ➔ been naked everywhere! I can't see any of the guys complaining, but I bet the girls are getting a bit jealous. They should start stripping off to give her some competition.

ISN'T IT GREAT THAT SUMMER'S HERE?

Well, you can definitely be more adventurous when you're outdoors. You can really mix it up in all those riskier places. There's quite a thrill with all the excitement that you might get caught at it.

WOW! HOW WOULD A BLOKE GO ABOUT IMPRESSING YOU?

He should take me out for a nice meal. I'm a real foodie, but give me a big plate of fish and chips any day. I always order it when I'm out on a date – don't forget the mushy peas and glass of wine. You also can't be afraid to take your top off: it always gets our attention. ➔ attention. I've really enjoyed this shoot, as it's probably one of the rudest I've done to date.

HOW DO YOU CREATE A REALLY RUDE SHOOT?

We've used all sorts today: bondage gear and racy underwear! It's great to get whips and especially nipple tassels involved: they're really sexy. I love Fifty Shades Of Grey and think it's great to bring out in the bedroom when you're trying to experiment.

WHAT'S THE RUDEST THING YOU HAVEN'T DONE?

Hmm, let me think. I've not joined the mile high club... yet. That's something I've definitely got to tick off the bucket list one day.

YOU'RE NO STRANGER TO RUDENESS IN THE BB HOUSE. HOW RUDE IS HARRY AMELIA?

She's definitely got it, so why not flaunt it? I don't blame her at all. She's ➔ a drink. Far too often it turns into a real night out and we end up rolling in at 4am. That's a real wind down for me. If not, I'll just grab a beer and sit in front of the TV watching Jackass, wrestling or darts. I'm a massive Phil Taylor fan.

WE KNOW YOU'RE PARTIAL TO A SELFIE. HOW HAVE YOU PERFECTED YOURS?

You've got to make sure you've got a nice light shining on you. A good filter can help with that, too. The most important thing for me is to take it from above, so you all get a really nice view of my cleavage. Everybody loves cleavage.

FINALLY, WHAT'S THE STRANGEST THING YOU'VE BEEN ASKED ON THE INTERNET?

If I ever post anything about me doing my fake tan, I'll get asked a lot if I need any assistance with my boobs. That's fair enough – they're very big and take me a long time to cover!

Back on the ZOO horse!

LEONNA MAYOR

The world's sexiest horse rider on her return to ZOO, picking a winner – and how to pull at the races!

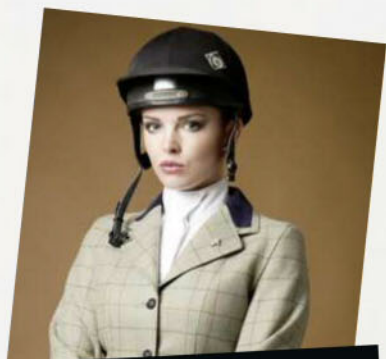

HELLO, LEONNA.
HOW GOOD IS
IT TO BE BACK
SHOOTING WITH ZOO?

It's great! I've had a really good time, and it's completely different from my day job. On a day-to-day basis, I just roll out of bed, brush my teeth and throw on some clothes before sorting out my horses. I love it. I just have to get used to the make-up on my face!

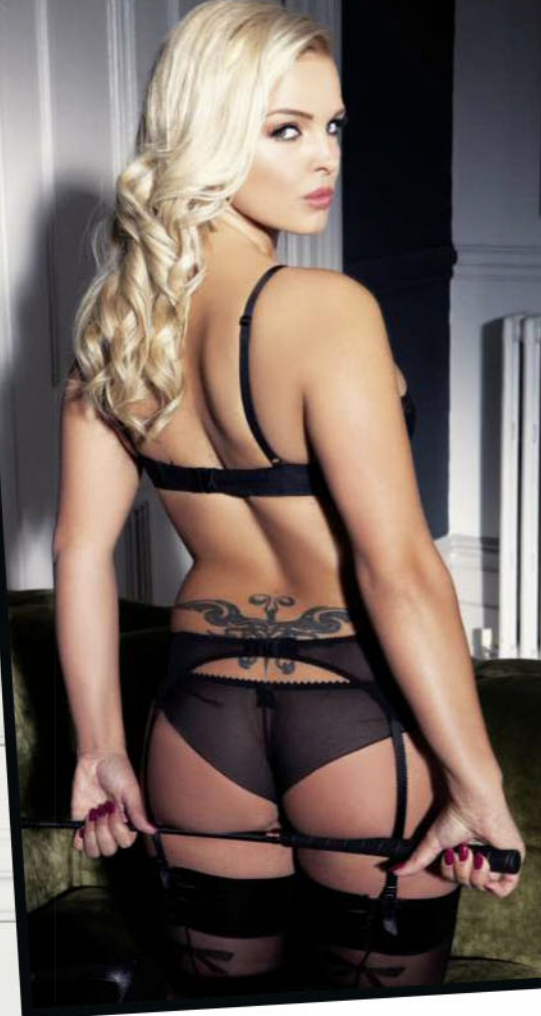

YOU COULD ALWAYS BRING YOUR HORSE TO A SHOOT...

I have done before. As part of my sponsorship for my eventing, we brought my horse Ariel along. We've got some nice pictures that can go up on my website. She wasn't very well behaved; she's not a good model at all!

PHOTOGRAPHY: James Rudland, STYLING: Lisa Nicolaeu, INTERVIEW: Joe Barnes

DRESSED FOR THE DAY JOB!

HOW DID YOUR LAST ZOO SHOOT GO DOWN IN THE PADDOCK?

One or two people weren't pleased about it, but everyone else thought it was really good. I got a great reception from all the jockeys and trainers, and most of the lads posted pictures of themselves reading ZOO. They all loved the idea of me reaching out to a new audience WHAT ARE YOU UP TO THESE DAYS NOW YOU'VE RETIRED FROM RACING?

I'm going into eventing. It's show jumping, cross-country and dressage all wrapped into one. I only got my new horse at Christmas, and although I may have been a jockey, this is completely different. We're learning together. Hopefully we'll get some events in during July and August! ➔

Back by popular demand!

"I'd be a millionaire if I knew which horse would win!"

IS IT THE RIDING THAT KEEPS YOU IN SHAPE?

When I was racing, I'd ride six or seven horses a morning. I didn't have to watch what I ate and tucked into pizza and drank Red Bull all the time. Since I've stopped, I've had to spend quite a bit of time in the gym. It was hard to find something I enjoyed as much, but I've discovered spinning.

DO YOU MISS THE BUZZ OF THE RACECOURSE?

I've only been to a few smaller meetings since Cheltenham. It's not that it makes me sad, but I do miss it. I had to retire because of injury, so I go there thinking I could have ridden that winner. I'm at Royal Ascot for a couple of days. I can't wait!

RIGHT, ON TO THE NAGS.

WHAT IS THE SECRET TO PICKING A WINNER?

That's the impossible question – I'd be a millionaire if I knew which horse would win! Having raced does give me a slight edge, and there are certain trainers who will take a horse from another and it will instantly perform. Also, it's good to look where the money is going. If a trainer or owner thinks their horse will win, it's likely they'll back it.

AND ONE FINAL QUESTION: HOW CAN A BLOKE PULL AT THE RACES?

Apart from winning lots of money? There are lots of things you shouldn't do. Don't get overly drunk, that's never attractive. And people are wearing jeans these days, so make sure you dress smart!

ARMS RACE UNCOVERED

Looking at the countries spending big bucks on big guns!

WORDS: Joe Barnes. PICS: Rex Features, PA Photos, Barcroft

After recent events, you could be forgiven for thinking a new cold war is upon us. As Russia flexes its military muscle, America is planning to station its long-range cruise missiles in Britain (cheers!) in retaliation.

But it's not just the big boys who are stocking up in order to rule the Earth...

2 FRANCE

While most armies around the world are kitted out with cutting-edge death machines, the French have opted for a more novel approach to armament, choosing to buy 1,000 brand new... Ford Ranger pick-up trucks. Probably don't have to let this get you too worried.

1 RUSSIA

Vladimir Putin has been busy unveiling an awesome arsenal of brand new tanks to the world, like the T-14 Armata, his new super weapon. Forget the turbo-charged engines and take note of the robotic turret which can easily dispatch capitalist pigs from up to five miles away. Happily, one did break down during its official unveiling.

3 CHINA

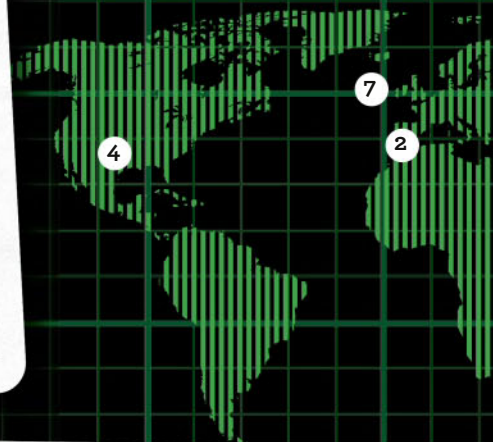

It's been a while since pictures emerged of a man-made island in the South China Sea – with airstrips big enough to launch their entire air force in a short space of time. Not much more is known about it, but it plans to launch three more aircraft carriers in an attempt to dominate the waves as far away as the Mediterranean.

Straight out of the latest Call of Duty, the Americans have developed a space-age laser that can blast drones out of the sky at the speed of light. Combine this with their collection of unmanned drones, and you'll soon have a generation of gamers melting enemies from a top-secret bunker.

The Indians have not been left behind, as they hope to dominate the oceans. They've just finished building the 800ft monster that is INS Vikrant, an aircraft carrier that can accommodate its MiG-29K jets. Is this a direct response to the Chinese threat in the neighbouring Pacific?

“THE BUS
DRIVERS DESERVE
SOME CREDIT!”

The season's over, but the Chelsea gaffer still has something to say. We caught up with The Special One to hear him out on the issues that matter

On “parking the bus” jibes...

“First of all, I have a lot of respect for bus drivers, especially in London where there are always roadworks and no space. So we have to give credit to the bus drivers, and to the managers who know how to park the bus. Football is about moments. Sometimes you dominate and sometimes you are dominated, so you need to be able to play different styles in one game. This is not easy. The same way the bus drivers need lots of training to be ready to park the bus!”

“MY CHELSEA TEAM WOULDN'T WIN LA LIGA”

"MY FIRST TARGET IS TO KEEP THE PLAYERS I WANT TO KEEP"

On winning the Champions League...

"Of course I would like to win it with Chelsea, but I'm not obsessed. You have to have a good team and believe that it's possible, but sometimes you win it when people don't expect you to win it. Chelsea won it when they finished fifth in the Premier League, 25 points behind Manchester City. Inter were waiting for 50 years to win it again with super teams and super players like Ronaldo and Rivaldo, and we finally did it in the year that Barcelona had the best team in their history."

given 10 years of success to the club. I would have to accept the owner's decision, but I know what I would say. I have the same respect for Petr as everyone else at the club, but my answer would be no way. Or in every club that's interested in him, I can find a player I like in that team, too."

On summer signings...

"My first target is to keep the players I want to keep. In previous seasons, I've been more than happy to sell a few good players but this summer

I don't want to sell any of my best players. That means Eden Hazard, Nemanja Matic, Branislav Ivanovic, Cesc Fabregas and Diego Costa. After that, I need three new players: a striker, because we lost our legend Didier Drogba, a defender and a midfielder to bring more competition to the squad and put other players under pressure."

On Petr Cech's proposed move to Arsenal...

"It's not up to me, it's up to the owner. Roman Abramovich is a person with a perspective that I admire a lot. He respects the people that do important things for him, and obviously Petr has

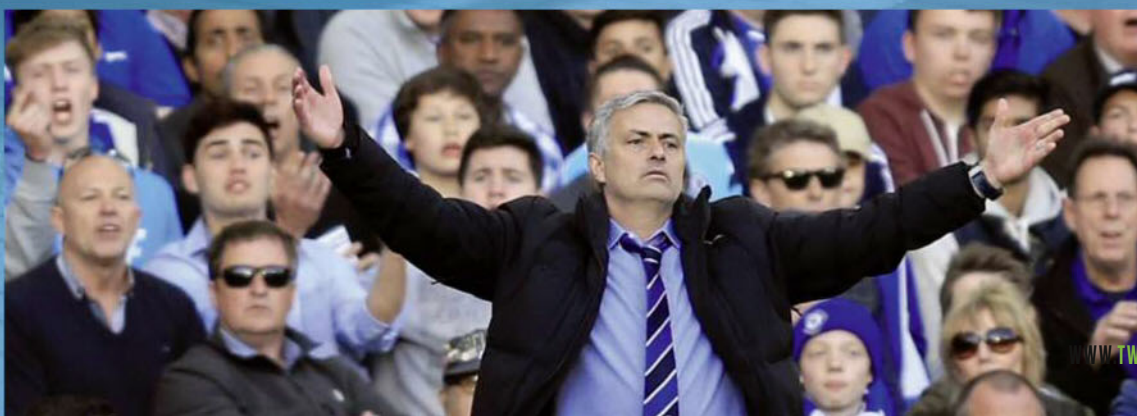

On the FIFA scandal...

"It's not my job to worry about corruption because the World Cup should go here or there. I just always pray that it doesn't come inside the pitch. But when I heard the news about a country that should be in the World Cup – millions of Irish people that should be enjoying their country in the World Cup and they didn't – and to close their mouth, their emotions and their hearts somebody got €5m... I'm just happy that I'm not Giovanni Trapattoni and I don't feel like he's feeling now."

On the best side he's ever managed...

"My Inter would never win the Premier League, but my Chelsea wouldn't win La Liga. My Real team could score seven in a game and destroy teams, but couldn't defend a corner. If you can't defend a corner in England, then even a League Two team will beat you. So every time I changed country, I had to change my ideas and team profiles."

Can England's young lions win the Euros?

Yes, according to manager Gareth Southgate. And he's not just saying it. The gaffer explains why this time they actually believe it...

HI, GARETH. WITH ALL THE PREMIER LEAGUE EXPERIENCE IN YOUR SQUAD, IS THIS THE STRONGEST TEAM ENGLAND HAS EVER SENT TO THE U21 EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIP?

We're fortunate that the bulk of this group has been together for the past two years so they understand how we want them to play. We had a great qualifying campaign and also played and beat three of the other finalist. So we're not just going there with hope, but the evidence to give us belief that we can do something.

HOW MUCH OF A COUP WAS IT TO GET HARRY KANE, DANNY INGS AND SAIDO BERAHINO TO ALL SIGN UP FOR THE TOURNAMENT?

It's quite unusual for an age group to have three strikers who have been in such good form right to the end of the season. They've bought into what we are about as a team and a group, and it's brilliant to have the choice of who starts.

WITH THAT TYPE OF FIREPOWER CAN THE FANS ACTUALLY GET EXCITED ABOUT ENGLAND WINNING AN INTERNATIONAL TOURNAMENT FOR ONCE?

The aim is to go there and win, of course. If we can start to win things at junior level then the players will have more confidence when they step up to the senior squad and less of an inferiority complex, so that they can beat the top teams.

CHELSEA YOUNGSTER RUBEN LOFTUS-CHEEK WAS A SURPRISE INCLUSION. DID JOSÉ MOURINHO HAVE A WORD?

Ruben's been in our system throughout the age groups and is a player that we've always thought highly of. The U19s didn't qualify for their European finals and that gave us the opportunity to call him up because he adds a different dimension to our midfield.

PLEASE TELL US YOU'VE BEEN PRACTISING PENALTIES EVERY DAY...

Well we did some prep before our play-off game for the Euros and we've been working on them again for the finals. We also have guys who regularly take them for their club so we'll be very well prepared.

THAT'S GOOD TO HEAR. IS IT TRUE YOU THINK THIS SQUAD IS BETTER THAN BARCELONA?

Haha. I just said everyone was marvelling about Barcelona's first goal in the Champions League Final but it had half the number of passes of our goal against Germany in March – and our keeper had a touch as well!

WHAT TEAM ARE YOU MOST WORRIED ABOUT FACING IN THE GROUP OF DEATH?

Portugal are very confident about this age group, Italy defend very well, and Sweden knocked France out, who are the best team in Europe we've played, so we can't dismiss any of them.

Southgate talks to ZOO

Paul Smith chats to ZOO!

“WARD NEEDS HIS WORST NIGHT EVER!”

Paul Smith sizes up the challenge of fighting undefeated Andre Ward in his backyard... and tells ZOO why his other half is also up for it

HI PAUL. FIRST ARTHUR ABRAHAM, NOW ANDRE WARD. YOU DON'T PICK EASY OPPONENTS, THAT'S FOR SURE...

It's what I want to do. I've never been the type of person to be a big fish in a small pond. I'm not going to get anything out of fighting British and European level fighters in the Echo Arena. I want to push myself.

DOES THAT MEAN TAKING THE FIGHTS THAT NOBODY WANTS?

I've always been that lad. I've never said no to a fight unless it was for financial reasons. It's a job first and foremost. But I also want to fight the best in the world and that's what this is about.

ANDRE WARD RECKONS HE'S FIGHTING YOU BECAUSE CARL FROCH DUCKED HIM. IS THAT THE CASE?

You could say that. It's no secret that Carl Froch was offered the fight but he didn't want it. Froch has got his reasons for turning it down and I've got all the respect in the world for him, so it's not for me to speculate on them. But he didn't take the fight and his loss is my gain.

HOW DO YOU BEAT A FIGHTER LIKE ANDRE WARD?

It's a big ask and so many people have tried before me and failed. But he's got two hands and a chin just like every other fighter and he can be hit and be hurt. He's quality, but he hasn't got the best style in the world and whereas everyone thinks about what he does well, I'm concentrating on what he does badly.

HE HASN'T FOUGHT IN ALMOST TWO YEARS. HOW MUCH ARE YOU HOPING THE RING RUST HAS GOT TO HIM?

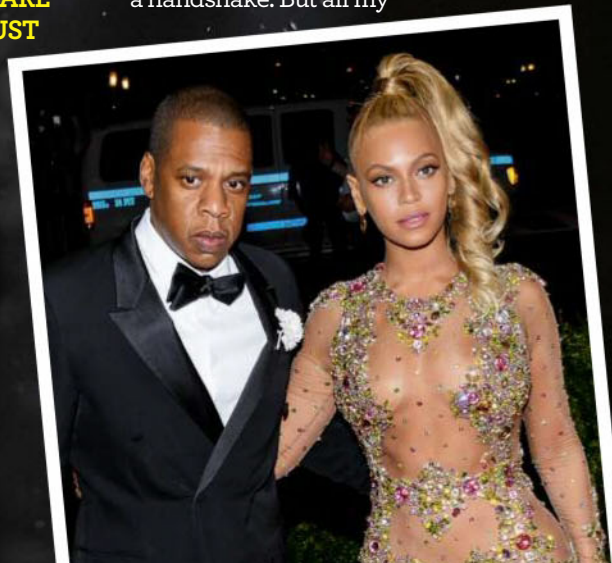

Massively. I'm hoping he gets in there and he can't punch straight, and he's slow and sluggish. I want and need Andre Ward to have the worst night he's ever had, but I'm ready for the best.

WITH JAY Z BEING HIS PROMOTER, HAVE YOU HAD ANY CONTACT WITH THE RAPPER YET?

Not yet, but I'm dealing with Roc Nation on a daily basis so I've seen his name on some papers and some forms. I'm told he'll be at the fight, which will be good. Anyone putting money into boxing deserves a handshake. But all my

“MY MISSUS WANTS TO MEET BEYONCÉ”

"I'M GOING TO BE FIGHTING THE BEST"

missus and stepdaughters are concerned about is whether his wife Beyoncé is going to be there.

YOUR BROTHER CALLUM FIGHTS THE WEEKEND AFTER YOU. HAVE YOU BEEN TRAINING TOGETHER?

We've been in the gym together the whole time. Sometimes our sparring sessions overlap and we do a couple of rounds together. It's just a shame he's my brother because I can't give him the praise and credit he deserves without it sounding biased. But I see him training in the gym every day, so see first-hand exactly how good he is.

CONSIDERING THE LEVEL OF OPPONENTS YOU'RE FACING, WOULD IT BE FAIR TO SAY YOU'RE LIVERPOOL'S NO1 FIGHTER?

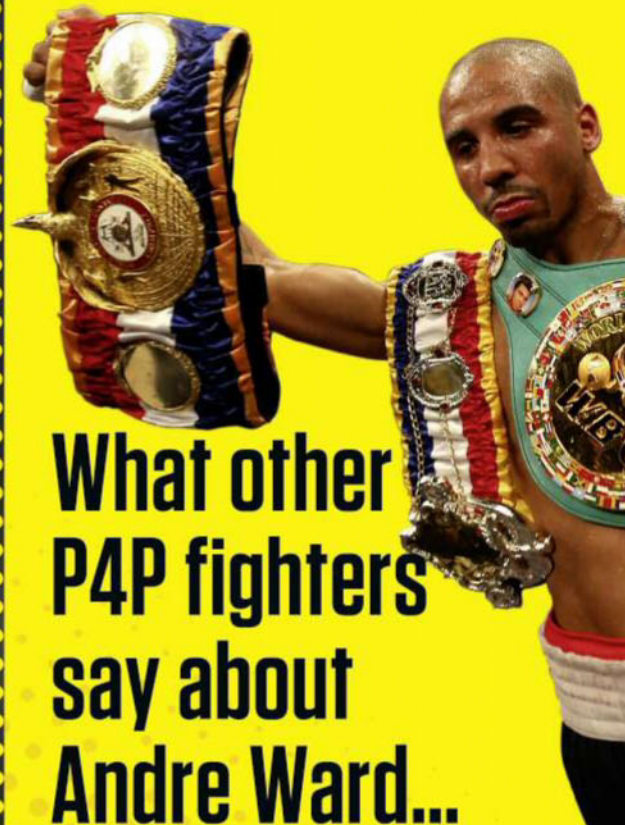

Not at all. Liverpool's a massive city with a great history of fighters. Just to be part of that is big enough. But we need that world title that's been eluding us ever since Paul Hodgkinson in the early '90s. When you consider the Greater Manchester area with the likes of Amir Khan, Scott Quigg and Ricky Hatton all winning world titles, it's like the football all over again, so we need to put that right.

SATURDAY FIGHT NIGHT
Andre Ward vs Paul Smith
1.30am, Sky Sports 1

What other P4P fighters say about Andre Ward...

Carl Froch

"I'd like to fight Andre Ward. I'd probably get beaten again on points, but if I chinned him, the fight's over. If the fight did happen it'd be a very hard fight for me to win because Andre Ward's very good."

He'd beat me!

Floyd Mayweather

"Andre Ward is a remarkable fighter. He's one helluva fighter. I had a chance to see Gennady Golovkin fight. If he's fighting Andre Ward then Ward beats him hands down."

He beats Golovkin!

Gennady Golovkin

"I respect Andre Ward. He is a great champion, but fighting at middleweight is my priority. It's not a unification fight, so maybe this is a fight for the future."

He's not my priority

Joe Calzaghe

"If I was to come back it wouldn't have been to fight Carl Froch. My speed would have been too much for him. The only fighter that could lure me out of retirement would be Andre Ward."

I'd come out of retirement for him!

Richard Kingscote chats to ZOO!

“Shattered elbow, punctured lung... and back in the saddle!”

As he prepares to take on-form runner Brown Panther to Royal Ascot, jockey Richard Kingscote looks back at the fall that almost robbed him of his career and his journey to get back to the big races

Dubai Gold Cup win was payback!

“It was amazing to repay everybody who helped me through my injuries by winning the Dubai Gold Cup on Brown Panther. It’s hard enough winning races like that when things have gone right, let alone when they’ve gone disastrously wrong like the fall I had in November. It was an everyday race at Wolverhampton. The horse in front of me got brought down and caused a pile-up that ended with my horse going down and a couple of horses behind me going over me.”

The doctors put me back together!

“My elbow was shattered, the bone in my forearm came through the skin, I broke my wrist and my collarbone, and my lungs were punctured. I didn't feel a thing except for my lungs, because it took a while to sort my breathing. I walked to the ambulance holding my forearm in place, as it effectively wasn't attached to my arm. I spent two weeks laid up in hospital and had to be pieced back together. They put a tube in my lungs to fix my breathing, which was horrible."

“I HELD MY FOREARM IN PLACE - IT WASN’T ATTACHED TO ME”

I haven't lost my bottle!

"I was back in the gym after a month doing physio every day and was back riding horses after three months, just at home. It was four months before I was racing competitively. After a big fall people are looking to see whether you've still got the bottle to get on the horse and luckily I still did. It takes a few rides to get back up to speed but mentally I'm OK – there's no fear there."

Superbikes make me fearless!

"The fearlessness comes partly from my love of bikes. I used to live three minutes away from Oulton Park, which is my favourite track, and whenever I got a day off I was there on my Yamaha R6. Being so light I'd go flying around the track on it. I'm more natural on a horse, but the difference between jockeys and superbike racers is the horse has a mind of its own and we have to deal with that. If you're on one that's not feeling it, it's not ideal!"

Brown Panther is one of the best!

"Next up for Brown Panther is the Gold Cup at Royal Ascot. He's one of the best stayers in Britain at the minute, maybe even in the world. He won his best race in the Dubai Gold Cup over two miles, which is his best trip. The Gold Cup at Royal Ascot is over two-and-a-half miles so it's not ideal, but he still has a very good chance. He didn't stay it last year but if he relaxes, he's got enough ability to do the job."

Michael Owen made my career!

"Riding for Michael Owen is great, not because he was a top footballer, but because he understands to leave the horses to me and trainer Tom Dascombe. I get to ride a lot of Michael's horses and his support has definitely made my career better. They don't put a great deal of pressure on me because they know we're all pulling for the same thing – to win the big races!"

WAR ON THE SHORE!

Having scooped up the last three majors between them, ZOO looks at the new rivalry that will come to a head this week on the 2015 US Open's Washington coastline course, Chambers Bay

MCILROY VS SPIETH

RORY "WEE-MAC" MCILROY

AGE: 26
COUNTRY: NORTHERN IRELAND
WORLD RANKING: 1
MAJORS: US OPEN 2011, THE OPEN 2014, PGA CHAMPIONSHIP 2012 & 2014
TURNED PRO: 2007
PROFESSIONAL WINS: 18

Achievements: First European to win three different majors, and along with Jack Nicklaus and Tiger Woods, is one of three to win a trio of majors by 25.

On rivalry: "Last year it was Rickie Fowler, this year it's Jordan. There have been four or five rivalries over the past year, so it's it doesn't really do anything for me. As long as I'm one of them, then the other can be whoever, I don't mind."

JORDAN "GOLDEN CHILD" SPIETH

AGE: 21
COUNTRY: USA
WORLD RANK: 2
MAJORS: MASTERS 2015
TURNED PRO: 2012
PROFESSIONAL WINS: 5

Achievements: Second-youngest player to win the Masters behind Tiger Woods and tied with him for the 72-hole course record

On rivalry: "I could certainly appreciate it if I could get to where Rory's at, but right now I don't see myself there. There's a lot of hard work that needs to be had to get there, and once I am there it's certainly a huge goal of mine to make it interesting with him and possibly take over No.1."
